

Pascalina is a Very Nice Name

Paul N. Dion / Allen M. Dion

Do you know that man?

Everyone knows that man.

He's the Vatican's next hope to be pope.

He's Eugenio Pacelli.

I brought you here to see him and possibly to meet him.

He will never be pope. He looks too fragile and so frail.

Don't misjudge him. He may surprise you.

Lend an ear, hear him out. I think you'll be surprised.

You may find his focus quite intense.

The Alps are so beautiful this time of year.

I'd like my coffee now.

The sky is so blue today. It makes me smile.

Do you not know who I am?

I know that you work hard, but I am not your waitress.

I am under great stress. I'm being put to the test.

Why not take a rest?

Oh, yes. What was your name?

Pascalina.

Pascalina is a very nice name.
