

The New Boss

Paul N. Dion / Allen M. Dion

These rolls are hard, and the Pope likes them soft.
And these nuts are rotten, and they taste like mush.

Get your act together, or else soon you will learn.
On these matters, the Pope can be firm.
You are all replaceable.

Hard, soft, firm, oh,
I wonder what she is talking about.
And what did she say about his nuts?

These numbers are all wrong. It's your job to be precise.
These mistakes cannot continue. You should be much more concise.
There are other accountants waiting outside of the door.

When one ignores a problem,
It doesn't always go away.
But I fear this Pope's assistant,
Is here to stay.

Never heard of her.
Never heard of her.